PERSON CENTERED CONSULTING & TRAINING

What is person centered thinking and how does it affect your organizational health?

Person centered thinking begins to build a foundation that helps us shift our lens of thinking, that will assist us in identifying what is important to a person and what is important for a person. It is through this lens that will guide us in transformational change. It takes more than just receiving training on person centered thinking to make a difference.

It takes continuous learning of new tools, and developing skills and practices in order to change the current work that we do to support people to live a life of their choosing.

How Mains'l can support your organization in person centered practices:

Mains'l offers a multi-faceted approach to organizations who want to make a difference in people's lives. We offer consultation, mentoring, and training to those who want to deepen their understanding of and build competency in person centered practices. The length, subject matter, and outcomes of our time together is customized to meet your unique needs and desires.
